

Business 101 Overview

If you are considering the start-up of a new business, or running a current business you will want to attend the City of Auburn's Business 101 Overview. Speakers will present a summary of current trends, financial considerations, legal aspects, and business marketing. You will gain insight as we explore topics regarding today's business climate. Come hear from local experts and get started on building your business. This workshop will be the foundation for our 2015 business development series.
