Auburn Neighborhood Programs BINGO
Find the Little Free Library closest to you (littlefreelibrary.org/ourmap). Walk, bike, skate, or drive there and check it out. Remember to sanitize anything you add or take home.	The Auburn Parks, Arts and Recreation Department hosts a public art gallery downtown. Each year, Auburn residents can vote and pick which piece is purchased by the City and permenantly installed. Take a walk downtown and visit the website to vote!	Visit www.buylocalauburn.com and find a local Auburn business that you can support during this time.
Mix up your route: if you go for walks regularly, try taking a coin with you. At each intersection, flip the coin to decide your direction. Go somewhere new!	Think about the "soft spaces" in your neighborhood. These are the areas on your property or on communal property where you are accessible enough that a neighbor on the sidewalk could stop and chat. Spend some time in these spaces to get to know your neighbors.	Get to know your Council Members on our website at auburnwa.gov/council. Contact information for each member is available, if you have any comments or questions for them.
Wave to a neighbor!	Free Space	Introduce yourself to two new people in your neighborhood. Remember to wear masks and social distance!
Over the last year, the City of Auburn has been wrapping City- owned utility boxes in art. Find one and take a picture.	Have a Driveway or Parking Lot Party! Invite your neighbors to all cookout outside on the same night. Let the social distancing party commence!	Choose your own neighborhood related activity.
Check out the Neighborhood Programs webpage at auburnwa.gov/neighborhoods.	Brighten your neighbors' day: take up chalk art and draw some pictures or write some inspiring messages to help your neighbors during this time.	Visit auburnwa.gov/parks, click on the link in "Visit one of our public parks". Find the park nearest you and go visit it! Walk, bike, or skate user's choice.
